FRIDAY, SEPT. 2, 1904.

Statistics show that the average number of persons to a family in the United States is 4.7.

The moon has broken out again and in a new spot,—at least, so says one Pickering, an astronomical expert.

"Back to the mines" is the advice which has been handed out to Jack Monroe in liberal clubs since that little incident of last Friday night.

Apropos of the talk of crime by aliens, statistics show that in England the Americans are five times as criminal as are the Russians and Poles.

The first class battleship Louisiana, launched at Newport News on Saturday last, is characterized as the greatest fighting ship in the world.

Thomas W. Lawson is now said to be contemplating an entrance into the political arena. Mr. Lawson seems ever to be on the lookout for trouble.

Do you suppose the Bishop will ever invite Carrie to visit his new establishment? Mrs. Nation stands not for ceremony but may go without an invitation.

Long live the lobster! The United States government has just imposed 100,000,000 lobster fly along the coast of Maine. Some of them are bound to live, and you may be fortunate enough to secure one.

If predictions prove true, Japan will be able to pay her war expenses from an unexpected source. A gold mine recently located on government property is believed to be capable of yielding $500,000,000 worth of ore.

The school bells will ring next Tuesday and many a "future president" will reluctantly polish his dusty shoes, don a collar and tie and the despised "packet" and sorrowfully wind his way toward the nearest education factory.

Speaking of bells—the "all in" bells for the straw hat will ring on Monday, but you are under no real obligation to heed them. If you choose to wear your's a week or two longer, it's really nobody's business but your own.

If you have not yet crossed the pond, do not be too strongly tempted by the low rates offered by the steamship companies, for if you postpone your trip a while longer, one of them may offer to give you the ship if you will consent to go.

The Sioux City Journal says that: "The wheat has taken everything but the thirty-second degree—the frost degree." The Journal should not feel disengaged over the failure of the wheat to go the limit. It may get frosty yet, and even if it doesn't, it's time to get roasty.

At the works fair a few days ago, a ticket holder left car number 41,000 outside his car for forty-four hours and although crowds of people passed it, nobody molested it. Yet some people say they are not going to visit the exposition for fear of being robbed.

According to the Atlanta Journal, the French word for automobile is "parade-loppe-sonne-pompe-petrol-vigilant." That is a pretty hard name to call a defenseless machine, but some of them may deserve it. It may have its advantages too, for after an angry chauffeur had said that word a few times, he would hardly be able to heap any more abusive epithets upon his refractory machine.

An Oregon ranchman offers an entirely new and a rather unique method of preventing forest fires. He recommends the pasturing of sheep in the great forests during the summer months and claims that if these were done, the woods would not be visited by fire in the spring. In support of his claim, he says that the sheep would eat the grass and the growth of underbrush upon which the fire feeds and so leave no food for them. Sheep have been pastured in some of the wooded lands on the Pacific coast, and it is said that these sections have been remarkably free from great forest fires.

Reports indicate that while this year's apple yield in Massachusetts, will be only a fair one, that in general, will be larger than the average. The 1903 yield was below the average, but of 250 returns made to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, 128 a crop above the average, 109 an average crop and but 13 show a crop below the average. In Canada, western New York and in the New England states as a whole, the crop will be larger than that of last year. The reports from the west are also indicative of large crops. This year's exports of apples may not be unusually heavy because of the fact that Great Britain and France will get very heavy yields.

The matter of new voters is one to which the campaign managers will do well to devote much attention this year. On the day of the last national election, 1,000,000 voters failed to exercise their right. During the four years that have elapsed, as many more have obtained the right to vote. There are therefore in the country 2,000,000 or more doubtful voters. The votes of these 2,000,000 will probably constitute from 11 to 12 per cent of the total vote cast on next election day, and the matter will probably be decided by a much smaller per cent than that. "The early bird catches the worm," and the politicians should lose no time in ascertaining the position of about one-eighth of the voters of the United States.

A German publication has compiled some interesting facts concerning the war in the far east. After carefully examining the press reports sent in by "war correspondents," it finds that Port Arthur has been assaulted twelve times, and in one instance captured after a hard fight, and surrendered six different times. Japan has sustained a loss of 49 armored cruisers, no less than seven battleships, 84 protected cruisers, 98 destroyers, 594 torpedo boats, 98,000 soldiers killed, 131,000 wounded and 119,000 captured. The Russians have lost 28 battleships of the Retzian type, 38 are missing, and 145 cruisers, 411 destroyers and 1,478 torpedo boats have been sunk. The number of men killed, wounded and taken prisoners is starting beyond imagination.

During the fiscal year ending June 30 of the United States, the pension system of the United States cost the government $1,471,757. During that time, 15,734 new names were placed on the pension lists and 40,156 were dropped for various reasons, making a total decrease of 17,833. The pension money resembles a boomerang in the nature of its action, for while in a certain sense, it comes from the people of the country, it goes directly back to them. The old soldiers must live on the financial consideration that they obtain from the people of the country which they so honorably served. They earned their pensions and the only regrettable part is that the pensions are so small in proportion to the services rendered.

The Springfield Republican, in a recent issue, devotes a lengthy article to unsuccessful attempts to raise Sumatra tobacco under cover. The experiment which resulted so disastrously was attempted because of the announcement by the United States department of agriculture, that after various experiments, it had ascertained that it would be possible to raise the tobacco in the Connecticut valley. Sumatra leaf is equal to the imported, on which there is a duty of $1.85 a pound. It furthermore stated that the tobacco could be cultivated at a profit of nearly $900 an acre. This was an increase of nearly $900 an acre over what the tobacco grower in that section of the country has received for his work. It was brightness, for now-a-days a man is worth no more than he can get.

Labor Day.
We are hearing a great deal just now about salaries. Now if a man is worth more than he is worth, that fact but shows his brightness, for now-a-days a man is worth no more than he can get.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Completely Cured Me.

A frequent complication of rheumatism and sciatica is constipation. The use of Dr. Miles' Nervine Liver Pills in conjunction with a laxative will give relief and a permanent cure for cases of sciatica. The Nervine Liver Pills, by their tonic influence upon the nerves, will bring the sciatic pain to a point, ease them to a naturalness. Thus the user is readily cleaned of the impurities which are the cause of the sciatica. Dr. Miles' Nervine has nothing of effect of Nervine is allowed to do without a world of restoration without a world of constipation.

It is said that Gen. Stoeckell is as optimistic in his language as Admiral Evans, but that he does not possess the highly colored vocabulary of the American commander.

The laboring men of this country are so well employed at present that great difficulty is being experienced in finding the necessary recruits for the army and navy.

It is to be hoped that the takers of Weymouth's school census will make a better job of it than those men who performed similar work for Chicago are said to have done.

According to United States Government physicians, yellow fever will be unknown in the Panama Canal district two years hence. The condition of affairs will increase even more the gratitude of the people of that section towards America for having purchased the canal rights.

New York has discovered a way to stop the bringing of working delegates and business men to the sub-tropicals. A law which went into effect on September 1, makes criminal of both the bribe-taker and the bribe-giver. Every state in the Union should have a similar law.

The divorce figures published this week by the Government Census Bureau show a decided increase in the United States. The figures also present some interesting features. They show that in the year 1900, five out of every 1000 men gainfully employed, who had been married, had been divorced by the time at which the Census was taken. This ratio held good in nearly every occupation.

In connection with the fact that during the last fiscal year, the exports of manufacturers from the United States exceed those of any previous year and for the first time exceed the imports of agricultural products, it is interesting to note the classes of manufactured goods which were shipped largely. A recent bulletin of the Department of Commerce and Labor shows that the manufacturers of iron and steel headed the list, followed in the order enumerated by mineral oils, copper, leather, agricultural implements, cotton manufacturers, chemical, wood manufacturers, pianos and paper. The value of the iron and steel export was nearly $112,000,000, more than four times that of the exports of the year 1900. Large gains were also made in the exports of mineral oils, and among the most significant gains was that made in copper which was twenty times that of four years ago. The exports in leather, manufac- tures more than doubled and those in agricultural implements were increased nearly seven hundred per cent. Cotton manufacturers more than doubled in the value of their exports.

TREASURER RESIGNS.

Charles G. Shepard had Served South Shore Co-operative Bank in S. Ca- pacity for Nearly Four Years.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the South Shore Co-operative bank held last Tuesday evening, the following letter of resignation from Secretary-Treasurer Charles G. Shepard was read and accepted.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Sept. 6, 1904.

GENTLEMEN:—

I hereby resign the office of Secretary and Treasurer, said resignation to take effect Oct. 31, 1904. This will be the end of the current six months and the books will be closed and settled at this time.

I trust my secretary and treasurer will be elected in time to meet with the auditors and assure himself to the correctness of the books, as well as get some insight into the same.

The law requires a report to be filed with the Commissioners within thirty days after the last business day in October of each year. As the time is near at hand, this makes it much more convenient that it would be if it were otherwise. This report, which would be quite a task for a new secretary, will assemble together, I trust, in time to meet with the auditors and assure himself to the correctness of the books, as well as get some insight into the same.

During the past one and one-half years that I have served as secretary and treasurer, your bank has increased as follows: Members, from 125 to 258; shares, from $1,000 to $1,200; assets, from $6,773.50 to $10,000; surplus and treasury fund, from $500 to $82,612. During this period $152,292 has been paid back on the stock held by the bank, and $10,000 in matured shares. Matured shares and mortgaged shares by reason of matured shares. Of the above amount $24,877 was paid in dividends, $1,000 in interest and $1,000 in monthly payment. If I am permitted to be present at the October meeting, it will make 162 consecutive monthly meetings during which I have never been absent.

Yours respectfully,

CHARLES G. SHEPARD.

Mr. Shepard's successor will be elected at a special meeting to be held the latter part of September.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity, is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn, it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about three times the time usually required and it is an antiseptic it prevents danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is taken internally it may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale at William B. Webster's drug store, East Weymouth.

—NEVERTHELESS IT IS A WELL ESTABLISHED CUSTOM WHICH HAS EXISTED FOR GENERATIONS IN BOTH REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC CONVENTIONS to select the Governor in one section of the Commonwealth and the nominee for Lieutenant Governor from another section. —Consequently the ratio has very strong force against a Brookline candidate. The rest of the district would force a change. They have used therefore a clause: "Make no mistake in your brush. Use the individual holder. Price 10c."

Congressman Samuel L. Powers' Committee Claimed His Nomination Four Years Ago on Locality Argument.

LONGS THIS YEAR TO MIDDLESEX COUNTY.—Newton Graphic, July 27, 1900

—Now what we have said of the locality argument in connection with the nomination of state officers, is equally true with reference to the nomination of members of the State Senate and House of Representatives, and also of members of Congress. The selection of a member of the Senate and of the house is very largely, and in most cases ABSOLUTELY DETERMINED BY THE QUESTION OF LOCALITY.

It was insisting upon the nomination of one of her citizens as a member of the Senate from the second Norfolk District, and CLAIMED STRENTHUOUSLY THAT IT BELONGED TO HER BY REASON OF LOCALITY; and if we mistake not, the present Brookline candidate for Congress (Mr. Williams) won on the locality argument. The only other senatorial district which is embraced entirely within the limits of this congressional district, is made up of the Boston Ward 21, 22 and 23. It has been insisted upon the nomination of Ward 23, and should say to the voters of Ward 23, and should say to the voters of the latter ward, "You ought not to complain, the Senator represents the entire district and you are just as well represented by the Senator named from other wards as though he were named from this ward," would would such an attitude on the part of Wards 21 and 22 be satisfactory to the people of Ward 23? AND YET IT IS EXACTLY THE POSITION OF OUR BROOKLINE NEIGHBOR, WHO SEES NO INJUSTICE IN THE PRESENT ATTEMPT TO COMBINE NORFOLK COUNTY WITH SUFFOLK COUNTY AND NOMINATE AGAIN A BROOKLINE CANDIDATE TO THE EXCLUSION OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

—The Brookline Suburban in an article favoring Mr. Williams said: "A Congressman represents the entire district and not the locality in which he may happen to live, and for that reason the locality argument made by the Graphic is of no avail."

—There has been a somewhat well settled policy in Massachusetts to RECOGNIZE LOCALITY in matter of nominations.

—The Brookline Suburban in an article favoring Mr. Williams said: "A Congressman represents the entire district and not the locality in which he may happen to live, and for that reason the locality argument made by the Graphic is of no avail."

—The Graphic replied as follows:

—Mrs. William H. Chapman is entertaining a guest at her home in Weymouth.

—Mrs. Andre is visiting relatives in Boston.

Doctor

Tried but Could Not Believe Me

Of Headache, Dizziness, Twitching.

Dr. Miles' Nervine D. Relieves and Cure.

"The doctor said that couldn't relieve me is a common complaint met with in the long reason is plain. The doctor tries to cure a headache by giving a medicine. In case of chronic headache, nervousness, weakness, general debility, dizzy spells, it is the nervous system that is the cause of these, lack of interest, morbidities, hysterics, the disease is a nervous one and can only be relieved by a medicine that will strengthen and restore the nervous system. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is performed by a medicine that will do this. There are thousands of others. Read him up and act in the following case:

"A few years ago I was greatly troubled with a headache in the afternoon. I would work a dizzy spell would come over me. I would force to stop and rest. I used to have a headache in the afternoon. It was so marked as to cause almost complete twitching of the muscles. My doctor told me to take Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and continue until I have a dizzy spell taking the first dose. I am very thankful what your medicine has done for me and I am sure it will do the same for others whenever I can." —Dr. P. BENTLEY, Kirby, Vt.

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE.
PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY THE GAZETTE PUBLISHING COMPANY,
(MASS. CORPORATION.)
WEYMOUTH, MASS.
CHARLES H. WILLOBY,
Manager and Editor.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH
AS A SECOND-CLASS LETTER.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 23, 1904.

According to the solar calendar, summer ended last night.

Col. Leggsky of the Russian army is said to stand 7 feet, 2 inches in his stockings. He should be able to run fast enough to escape the traps.

It wasn't champagne that made Milwaukee famous, but nevertheless, that was the fluid used in the christening of the cruiser which bears the name of that state.

Owing to lack of space, the first instalment of Charles M. Adams' paper on Weymouth, which was to have appeared this week, was omitted, but will appear in next week's issue.

"Who loves me follows me." Thus speaks King of Kings. If that be true, judging from the persistency with which the Japs are following the Russian commander they must be deeply infatuated with him.

During the past fiscal year 31,950
patents and 3,133 trademarks were granted by the patent office. Many of the inventions were apparently worthless, but the number of useful ones was large enough to demonstrate the fact that the Russian have not lost their inventive genius.

ORDER OF THE EASTERN STAR.

Fifth Anniversary Observed by Mayflower Chapter, No. 65.

The members of Mayflower Chapter,
No. 65, Order of the Eastern Star, observed the fifth anniversary of their organization yesterday. The exercises were held in the Chapter room, Pythian Hall, Washington square, and commenced at 8:30 o'clock with a banquet, which was opened about 75 members and friends of the order.

The supper was followed by an entertainment which included a piano duet by the Misses Mathews, a violin solo by Miss Emily Streifer, accompanied by Miss Emily Bjorkman of Weymouth, violin solo, and a beautiful solo by the organ player, Miss Louise Nerdhardt, accompanied by Miss Lucie Nerdhardt of Brooklyn, N. Y. All of the above numbers were excellent, and each received a pleasing general applause.

A pleasing feature of the evening's exercises was the presentation of a jewel to Past Patron, Mrs. J. Gardner, by Mary E. Clegg, a young girl, who, by holding its first meeting in the United church yesterday on the thirteenth day of October, 1904. The

A TIMELY RESCUE.

Wion Woman Dragged from Beneath the Fet of a Frantic Horse.

The following article, clipped from a New York paper, shows that the hero of the occasion, E. Frederick Cullen, until recently of East Weymouth, has early distinguished himself in a new field of rescue.

"To the presence of mind of Mr. E. F.
Cullen, Mrs. William Haggerty of Ilion, brought his wife home yesterday afternoon, sitting in a carriage in front of the store of F. J. Morgan, on Main street, Ilion, when the horse, frightened by a high curbing, threw Mrs. Haggerty headlong beneath the hoofs of the now madened and plunging animal, where she lay in a pool of blood, but for the heroic action of Mr. Cullen. By almost uncommon strength he hurled the horse back upon its haunches with one blow, dragging Mrs. Haggerty from under the hoofs, and then, after a high curbing, threw Mrs. Haggerty

PREVALENT OPINION.

The Adulterated Food Pail.
(From the New York Evening Telegram.)

In the stomach lies the weakness or strength of a nation. It is the power house in which energy is generated for the whole system, and its value as such is too lightly regarded by the average dweller in a great city. Poor abused, overtaxed and neglected, it is often the victim of unhygienic cooking at home and the indigestible sight of the table. It has been compelled to add to this the domestic and foreign adulteration of foods has reached such alarming proportions that the government has stepped in to do what it can toward safeguarding the national stomach.

Childhood is the time to lay the foundation for a sturdy constitution that will last for years.

Scott's Emulsion is the right stuff.

Scott's Emulsion stimulates the growing powers of children, helps them build a firm foundation for a sturdy constitution.

And yet this nation does not make staple food of sausages or pate de foie gras. But the danger and the fraud of the thing are no less diminished. Nor does all the danger threaten from abroad. It has been discovered that home manufacturers are not blameless, and that even in little things like pepper, salt, coffee, sugar and spices adulterations are carried on to an amazing extent. Even the field of the industries is invaded, and tons of spurious honey are turned out each year.

Which is the sadder feature: That the present nation does not make allowances, or that it will also make mistakes?

One of the most pitiful sights we know of is a big grown man who has worked hard all day, taking dancing lessons in the evening.

"When I do anything I should not," said a man today, "it is so easy to catch me. But I never catch other people."

As every one in the family tells "Mother" of his troubles, there isn't any one left for her to tell hers to, so she takes them to the Lord.

If you organize a lodge don't try to force your neighbor to join; make your lodge so helpful to its members that he will join on his own accord.

A visit to a dentist is necessary once a year while one is young. As time passes, however, one has to go so often that it becomes important to go every day.

Big Fair Opens October 3.

With, according to their latest prospectus, "the largest and most select array of industrial and mercantile exhibits ever seen outside of a World's Fair;" with educational, musical, literary and miscellaneous entertainment, in exceptional variety, and with Creators' band for a continuous feature, the United Committee of Travelers of America predict that their great exposition will be held in Mechanics' building next month, will sell well all the products.

The telephone company in the United States has many instruments in use as the total of all Europe. Two years ago there were in the vast Russian empire fewer than 40,000 telephones. There are now double that number in Philadelphia alone.

In the last two years one company has installed in America more than 500,000 telephones, a growth of almost exactly 50 per cent. There is today a telephone for every 50 persons in the United States. In all Europe combined two years ago there was only one telephone for every 300 persons.

The telephone is rapidly superseding the telegraph in every direction, because it is quicker. Last year there were in this country 37 times as many communications by telephone as there were by telegraph.

The telephone system of the United States has been so rapidly extended during the past few years that later writings indicate 5,000,000,000 communications were sent by post. But the telephone is rapidly creeping up to these stupendous figures for there were last year two telephone calls in this land of hurry every time three letters were mailed.

Who would have been interesting if the committee had secured and published figures showing what proportion of the dwellings destroyed or damaged by fire burns were in the majority. The committee found that buildings with steepled and gabled roofs are much more susceptible to lightning strikes than those with flat roofs. Commenting upon the lightning rod as a preventive of lightning stroke, the Electrical Review says:

The Baltic fleet started again this week but as usual, it was not until before 10 a.m.

Ten-year marriages and twenty-minute divorces are strictly twentieth century incidents.

Do you love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of—Franklin.

The football season is now on and the war correspondents may as well be transferred to scenes of action nearer home.

The "lunch" has been accused of spreading contagious diseases. This can hardly be true of free lunches in general, for most of them are not large enough to shelter many microbes.

Experience is said to be the best teacher. If that be true, that gentleman who is said to have paid $750,000 for his divorce, will probably be a trifle slow in taking another chance on the game of matrimony.

According to reports from the Dawes' committee there are 15,000,000 acres of common farm land in Indian Territory. Last year fifteen per cent of this was in cultivation, and it is estimated that this year the percentage will be increased to twenty per cent.

Investigations made in Germany have convinced some eminent authorities that the strength of steel is so much affected by heat that tests of steel for boilers and pipes should be made when the metal is as hot as it is likely ever to become when in use.

A student of the population of the anthracite region of Pennsylvania reports that there are 630,000 people living in that district, of which 430,000 are of foreign birth. Of this latter number, more than 50,000 are unable to read or write.

An expert in the statistical line states that more money is spent in the country for candy than for tobacco and sugar combined. He might have gone a little farther and stated that more money is spent for alcoholic beverages than for all of the other articles combined.

Information gathered by the German forestry commission assigns to the pine tree, 500 years as a maximum length of life; 125 years to the silver fir; 275 to the larch; 245 to the red beech; 210 to the aspen; 290 to the birch; 170 to the maple; 145 to the elder and 130 to the elm.

The Engineering and Mining Journal is authority for the statement that there is as much energy in one ton of coal as 40,000 laborers exert in a day of ten hours. At present, however, according to the same authority, only one-tenth of this force is utilized in the steam engines which consume the coal. Yet the cost of doing certain work of the crudest nature is about one thousand times as much if human muscle is used, as it is if the work is done by a steam engine.

One of the most recent suggestions of usefulness for wireless telegraphy is that the chronometers of ships passing within 200 or 300 miles of certain points, usually brought within that distance on long voyages, might be regulated by wireless time signals sent out at hours fixed in advance and generally known to navigators, so that any vessel coming within the zone of communication might, if properly equipped, be made certain as to the accuracy of the chronometers used in the ship's reckoning.

The report of United States Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts shows that the nation's treasury contains $70,000,000 of American gold and that this country holds more than twenty per cent of the world's stock of $5,500,000,000, or in exact figures $1,342,000,000. In 1896, when the world's stock of gold amounted to $4,280,000,000, but $509,000,000, or less than one-seventh of the total amount was held by the United States. The Chicago Tribune points out that in 1890, the treasury of the United States held only $150,000,000 in gold, or a little more than one-fifth of the supply on hand at present. The gold production of this country is placed at $80,000,000 per year out of a world total of $300,000,000, and it is estimated that the country has $16 in gold per capita.

IN REMEMBRANCE.

Jane Holbrook Clark

Who has shown us what Christian faith and hope and love can do for human life on earth? And it has all been done so quietly, so simply. And we have been greatly grieved for a long time, her going from us has come suddenly, and we find ourselves for a while almost without an anchor, without a port, in the absence presses upon us the think of her as.

She will be in a thousand tender fancies. In memory of dear old words and glances. These have the power, no, her heart, truly.

It has been good to know her. To meet her in social intercourse, the church, the home. She had no time or strength—and had no desire—but that which could not minister to the best of us. We always felt that we were grainer for being in her presence. How great the blessing of such a life, and how rich the legacy she left us. How great the life we owe to her, and her simple faith in her Father made her to rejoice also in the life just beyond our vision. "The Easter tide is come, the great day of our salvation; the assurance of life, life everlasting, and love; the fulfilling of our hopes, our aspirations, the joy of the presence of friends and kindred, the alluring of seeming defeats." Let us think of her as realizing her hopes and aspirations—as having gained the victory.

She has been good, and shrank from praise but her friends, realizing her rich qualities of mind and heart, deems this simple and loving tribute to her memory and will find added peace in believing.

"Still with us in the land where we shall rest when we are gone, forevermore." That's just as tender, and as true as ever. That shall be with us still, forever."

AN OLD OFFENDER.

George Walsh Gets Six Months for Picking Pockets at the Weymouth Fair.

George Walsh, a pickpocket arrested at the fair grounds, South Weymouth, last Saturday, is to be sentenced to six months in his picture being in the "Robbers' gallery." In the District court Tuesday, Walsh was sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction.

WEYMOUTH THIRTY YEARS LATER.

(By Charles Francis Adams.)

It is already five months since our society celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. It may be said that there are other anniversary in our history. The misunderstanding on my part which prevented my participating in that event has been explained in detail. Unwittingly, I missed the opportunity of life time. Simply, I was not equal to the occasion. My confidence in my preparation, I had made all necessary preparation, I had no time to go to the meeting. To make either a comprehensive or careful analysis of the early history of our society, I had no time. The former Bouthwell held many offices, he was Secretary of the Treasury under Grant and was chosen Senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Henry Wilson when Wilson was chosen Vice President under Grant.

Worthington Bouthwell's term had expired and a new choice was to be made. Geo. F. Hoar was the rival competitor. Benj. F. Butler at this time had the ear of President Grant and the patronage of New England. He removed Judge Russell from the Custom House and put in William A. Simmons. This act of Gen. Butler caused much hard feeling in Boston where Butler was never a favorite.

The writer will say that Mr. Bouthwell was always at their service. Now when the election came for U. S. Senator, Collector Simmons managed Governor Bouthwell's campaign—from that day he was defeated and his rival, Geo. F. Hoar was chosen—1877. From this time Gov. Bouthwell was retired.

It came about in this wise: Weymouth is very classic soil; to what an extent it is classic I certainly did not at the time of my election. The Weymouth Society, so far as I can ascertain, invited to take part, sometimes the leading part, in these anniversary occasions. It would be strange if it were otherwise, for the fact of the matter is that I was not invited to any of the meetings of the Weymouth Society.

What is this side of the Atlantic, so momentous, important, and, it was in itself curiously interesting, as well as of momentous importance, and it was in connection with that I was offered the opportunity of a seat on the platform.

The writer will say that I was invited to speak at the Weymouth Fair.

It comes now to think of it. It even brings to mind Whittier's familiar lines in his poem of Mass. Muller.

"For all of bad words of tongue or pen,
The world is not so bad as you are seen."

The writer will say that I was invited to speak at the Weymouth Fair.

Men of Oak

Timbers of oak keep the old homestead standing through the years. It pays to use the right stuff.

"Men of oak" are men in rugged health, men whose bodies are made of the soundest materials.

Childhood is the time to lay the foundation for a sturdy constitution that will last for years. Scott's Emulsion is the right stuff.

Scott's Emulsion stimulates the growing powers of children, helps them build a firm foundation for a sturdy constitution.

had to leave her to look after the boys, and laundry work was a part of the surveillance. In the evening, a vision of silver and azure, she would soar aloft and take the trapeze, then trapeze down below to hold their breath till she had landed on terra firma. As she rubbed away at the little garments she reflected on many things. Lately the circus had become almost uniform to her. In the dunes, she would wonder what they would wear. She asked him what he enjoyed her performance on the trapeze. He answered that her liver was used to that; what was needed was variety of exercise.

She did not press the question, though she may have thought her exercise was still not varied, looking for Barney and the kids, helping round in the tent, acting as dresser to the performers, looking after the horses when Barney was in the dunes.

"By 'the boy,'" her brother-in-law said, pointing to her, "the boy had turned up again."

The boy had followed her round for months and made all manner of protestations.

"Yes," she replied. "I saw him last night."

"He's been written to you as usual?"

She answered that a note had come that morning.

"He ought to see you now," he grinned, "this very minute."

She leaned farther over the tub.

"Keep on, I'll be there to help you on—it's a pain of an strain on your back from the trapeze. Such a thing is always a sendoff for a show. Oh, I forgot. Sally wants you to men her red velvet body. She's getting so fat I really believe she'd rip an iron proof safe if she was dressed up in it."

Sally was Signora Sarepa, who mighty wound a bon conductor around her neck as though for warmth and called herself a "charmer."

"She must wait here," he demanded.

"I'm your mother," she said.

"I'm your mother, but she never wore it. The jewels my mother wore shall be worn by the woman I'm going to marry when she's been born."

She heard his footfalls become fainter and then he did not see him leave her, everything was so blurred before her eyes.

"It was your mother," she faltered.

"It was my mother, but she never wore it. The jewels my mother wore shall be worn by the woman I'm going to marry when she's been born."

Mademoiselle had many things to do before she was free to keep her engagement. First of all, Maggie marched in. She had been closeted with the "charmer."

"Clem," she said, "Sally and I have made up our minds that we won't go to the right without some of our back pay. Barney's promises are all wind, and we can't live off air padding if you can."

Again came Barney, in the depths of this time.

He was grumped, "Maggie and Sally are deafens, and they've come down that for their salaries. Couldn't you manage to borrow something from that young fellow?"

"Stop that!" she blazed out. "Don't ever let me hear you say anything like that again!"

She then came Teddy and Chrissy clamoring for bread with jam on it.

Mademoiselle wrung the suds from her hands and attended to the behests of her nephews.

Still Mlle. Clementine kept at her washing. All the time she was thinking of the boy. She knew his other
